SECTION I: PET PROTECTION ORDER LAWS ENACTED

State/ Year Enacted	Statutes	Bills Pending	Summary	Enacted Language ( underline = new material added to existing statutes)
Alaska (2016)	AS 18.66.100(c )(10) and (12)		Domestic violence protective orders may grant petitioners possession of a pet, regardless of the ownership of the pet. This provision must be printed on the form providing notice to a victim of domestic violence. Petitioners can also ask the court to require the abuser to pay support for pets in the petitioner's care. Courts may consider the well-being of animals when considering ownership or joint ownership by a couple as part of a divorce proceeding.	AS 18.66.100(c): A protective order may give the petitioner possession and use of a vehicle and other essential personal items, including a pet, regardless of ownership of the items; and require the respondent to pay support for the petitioner, a minor child in the care of the petitioner, or a pet in the care of the petitioner if there is an independent legal obligation of the respondent to support the petitioner, child, or pet; AS 25.24.160(a): In a judgment in an action for divorce or action declaring a marriage void or at any time after judgment, the court may provide: if an animal is owned, for the ownership or joint ownership of the animal, taking into consideration the well-being of the animal. AS 25.24.220(g): The court may amend written agreements between the spouses relating to child custody, child support, visitation, division of the property, including retirement benefits, spousal maintenance, ownership or joint ownership of an animal, taking into consideration the well-being of the animal , and allocation of obligations, but only if both petitioners concur in the amendment in writing or on the record.

Arizona (2010)	A.R.S. 13-3601 &amp; 13-3602(G)(7)		Allows judges to include pets in domestic violence protection orders; amends the definition of domestic violence to include intentionally or knowingly subjecting an animal to cruel mistreatment, neglect or abandonment resulting in serious physical injury.	13-3601: Domestic violence means intentionally or knowingly subjecting an animal under the person's custody or control to cruel neglect or abandonment that results in serious physical injury to the animal, or intentionally or knowingly subjects any animal to cruel mistreatment. 13-3602: Court may grant petitioner exclusive care, custody or control of any animal owned, possessed, leased, kept or held by the petitioner, respondent, or minor child in either household, and order respondent to stay away from the animal and forbid respondent from taking, transferring, encumbering, concealing, committing an act of cruelty or neglect, or disposing of the animal.
Arkansas (2011)	Ark. Code 9-15- 205(7)		Upon a finding of domestic abuse at a hearing, the court may direct the care, control or custody of any pet in the household	The court may provide the following relief: direct the care, custody or control of any pet owned, possessed, leased, kept or held by either party residing in the household.
(2021)	Ark. Code 9-15- 219(c)		Courts may grant a petitioner exclusive care, possession or control of an animal owned or kept by the petitioner, respondent, or a minor and order the respondent against coming into contact with the animal, or taking, molesting, attacking, harming, threatening, or disposing of it.	Upon a showing of good cause, an order of protection may include an order granting the petitioner the exclusive care, possession, or control of an animal owned, possessed, leased, kept or held by: A) The petitioner; (B) The respondent; or (C) A minor residing in the residence or household of either the petitioner or respondent. (2) The court may order the respondent to refrain from: (A) Coming into contact with the animal; or (B) Taking, transferring, encumbering, concealing, molesting, attacking, striking, threatening, harming, or otherwise disposing of the animal.
California (2007)	Sec. 6320(b), Family Code		Authorizes the court to order that the petitioner be granted the exclusive care, custody, or control of any animal owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by either the petitioner or respondent or a minor child residing in either's household; and to order the respondent to stay away from the animal or harm or dispose of the animal.	Authorizes the court to order, on a showing of good cause, that the petitioner be granted the exclusive care, custody, or control of any animal owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by either the petitioner or respondent or a minor child residing in either's household; and to order the respondent to stay away from the animal and forbid the respondent from taking, transferring, encumbering, concealing, molesting, attacking, striking, threatening, harming, or otherwise disposing of the animal.

(2021)	Sec. 15657.03, Welfare & Institutions Code		Authorizes the court to order that the petitioner be granted the exclusive care, custody, or control of any animal owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by the elder or dependent adult petitioner; and to order the respondent to stay away from the animal or harm or dispose of the animal.	Authorizes the court to order, on a showing of good cause, that the elder or dependent adult petitioner be granted the exclusive care, custody, or control of any animal owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by the petitioner; and to order the respondent to stay away from the animal and forbid the respondent from taking, transferring, encumbering, concealing, molesting, attacking, striking, threatening, harming, or otherwise disposing of the animal.

Massachusetts (2012)	SECTION 49. Chapter 209A, Section 11 of the General Laws		Allows courts to order defendants to refrain from abusing, threatening, taking, interfering with, transferring, encumbering, concealing, harming or otherwise disposing of any “domesticated animals” in the household. The procedure can apply in any temporary or permanent vacate, stay-away, restraining or no-contact order in any domestic relations, child custody, domestic abuse or abuse-prevention proceeding. Also requires courts to notify law enforcement agencies, and for those agencies to take necessary actions, when a warrant has been issued for violation of the protection order when the court believes an “imminent threat of bodily injury” exists to any person or domesticated animal involved in the proceedings.	SECTION 49. Chapter 209A of the General Laws is hereby amended by adding the following section:-  Section 11. (a) Whenever the court issues a temporary or permanent vacate, stay away, restraining or no contact order or a judgment under section 18, 34B or 34C of chapter 208; section 32 of chapter 209; section 3, 4 or 5 of this chapter; section 15 or 20 of chapter 209C; or section 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 of chapter 258E; or a temporary restraining order or preliminary or permanent injunction relative to a domestic relations, child custody, domestic abuse or abuse prevention proceeding, the court may order the possession, care and control of any domesticated animal owned, possessed, leased, kept or held by either party or a minor child residing in the household to the plaintiff or petitioner. The court may order the defendant to refrain from abusing, threatening, taking, interfering with, transferring, encumbering, concealing, harming or otherwise disposing of such animal.  (c) Whenever the court issues a warrant for a violation of a temporary or permanent vacate, stay away, restraining or no contact order or of a judgment issued under section 18, 34B or 34C of chapter 208; section 32 of chapter 209; section 3, 4 or 5 of this chapter; section 15 or 20 of chapter 209C; or section 3, 4, 5, 6 or 7 of chapter 258E, or otherwise becomes aware that an outstanding warrant for such a violation has been issued against a person before the court, the judge may make a finding, based upon the totality of the circumstances, as to whether there exists an imminent threat of bodily injury to any party to such judgment or the petitioner of any such protective order, a member of the petitioner’s family or household or to a domesticated animal belonging to such petitioner or to a member of the petitioner’s family or household. If the court makes a finding that such an imminent threat of bodily injury to a person or domesticated animal exists, the court shall notify the appropriate law enforcement officials of such finding and such law enforcement officials shall take all necessary actions to execute any such outstanding warrant as soon as is practicable.

Michigan (2016)	MCL600.2950 (1)(k) and MCL600.2950 (29)(a-d)	HB 4478 (2016)	Allows courts to issue protection-from-abuse orders preventing respondents from injuring, torturing, neglecting, threatening, or removing the petitioner's animals. It would apply to current or former spouses; individuals with whom the petitioner has a child in common or where there has been a dating relationship; or an individual presently or formerly residing in the same household.	Prohibits any of the following with the intent to cause the petitioner mental distress or to exert control over the petitioner with respect to an animal in which the petitioner has an ownership interest: (i) Injuring, killing, torturing, neglecting, or threatening to injure, kill, torture, or neglect the animal; (ii) Removing the animal from the petitioner's possession; (iii) Retaining or obtaining possession of the animal.  The petitioner has an ownership interest in an animal if 1 or more of the following are applicable: (a) The petitioner has a right of property in the animal; (b) The petitioner keeps or harbors the animal; (c) The animal is in the petitioner's care; (d) The petitioner permits the animal to remain on or about premises occupied by the petitioner..
Minnesota (2010)	Minn. Stat. 518B.01 subd. 6 (14) &amp; (15)		Court may direct the care, possession, or control of a pet or companion animal owned, possessed, or kept by the petitioner, respondent or a child; and direct the respondent to refrain from physically abusing or injuring any pet or companion animal without legal justification, known to be owned, possessed, kept or held by either party or a minor child as "an indirect means of intentionally threatening the safety of such person."	The court may direct the care, possession, or control of a pet or companion animal owned, possessed, or kept by the petitioner, respondent or a child; and direct the respondent to refrain from physically abusing or injuring any pet or companion animal without legal justification, known to be owned, possessed, kept or held by either party or a minor child as an indirect means of intentionally threatening the safety of such person.

A protection order may include an order of custody of the pet where appropriate, as well as any funds needed to cover the medical costs	A court shall have jurisdiction to enter an order of protection restraining or enjoining the respondent from committing or threatening to commit domestic violence, stalking, sexual assault, molesting or disturbing the peace of petitioner, or abusing a pet.  Any ex parte order of protection granted...may include (5) a resulting from abuse of the pet.	temporary order of possession of pets where appropriate. Any full or ex parte order of protection granted shall be to protect the petitioner from domestic violence, stalking or sexual assault and may include (1) Temporarily enjoining the respondent from committing or threatening to commit domestic violence, molesting, stalking, sexual assault, or disturbing the peace of the petitioner, including violence against a pet. The court may, in addition (13) award possession and care of the pet, along with any moneys necessary to cover medical costs that may have resulted from abuse of the pet. The court may immediately issue an ex parte order of [child] protection for good cause and upon finding an immediate and present danger of domestic violence, including danger to the child's pet. Any ex parte or full order of protection granted shall be to protect the victim from domestic violence, including danger to the child's pet.

Nebraska (2023)	RSN 42.924		Courts may issue a domestic abuse protection order without bond granting relief that may include directing the petitioner to have sole possession of any household pet owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by the petitioner, the respondent or any family or household member. The court may also enjoin the respondent from coming into contact with, harming or killing any such pet. Sole possession of any pet shall be valid only for the duration of the protection order or until further order of the court. Petitioners cannot dispose of a pet without the court's order except in cases where humane euthanasia is recommended by a veterinarian. The provisions apply only to common companion animals and exclude commercial livestock.	(1)(a). The court may issue a domestic abuse protection order without bond granting the following relief: (viii) Directing that the petitioner have sole possession of any household pet owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by the petitioner, the respondent, or any family or household member residing in the household of the petitioner or respondent; (ix) Enjoining the respondent from coming into contact with, harming, or killing any household pet owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by the petitioner, the respondent, or any family or household member of the petitioner or respondent; (b) If sole possession of a household pet is ordered by a court pursuant to subdivision (1)(a)(viii) of this section, such possession shall be for the duration of the protection order or until further order of the court. The grant of sole possession of a household pet under such subdivision is not intended to permanently determine ownership of such household pet. The petitioner shall not permanently transfer, sell, or dispose of a household pet placed

				in the petitioner's possession without prior court approval, except that court approval shall not be required in cases where humane euthanasia of a seriously ill or injured household pet is recommended by a licensed veterinarian.
Nevada (2007)	NRS 33.018 and 33.030(1e) and (1f)		Expands the unlawful acts which constitute domestic violence to include knowingly, purposefully or recklessly injuring or killing an animal with the intent to harass the victim. The penalty is a misdemeanor. The court may issue a temporary or extended order to prevent the adverse party from harming or taking possession of an animal owned by the victim or a minor child, and may specify arrangements for the care of such animal.	Domestic violence occurs when a person commits one of the following acts against or upon his spouse, former spouse, any other person to whom he is related by blood or marriage, a person with whom he is or was actually residing, a person with whom he has had or is having a dating relationship, a person with whom he has a child in common, the minor child of any of those persons or his minor child: (7) Injuring or killing an animal.  The court by a temporary order may: (e) Enjoin the adverse party from physically injuring, threatening to injure or taking possession of any animal that is owned or kept by the applicant or minor child, either directly or through an agent; (f) Enjoin the adverse party from physically injuring or threatening to injure any animal that is owned or kept by the adverse party, either directly or through an agent; The court by an extended order may grant any relief enumerated in subsection 1 and: b) Specify arrangements for the possession and care of any animal owned or kept by the adverse party, applicant or minor child;
New Hampshire (2014)	R.S.A 173-B:4(a)(10)	HB 1410 (2014)	Includes household and domesticated animals under the domestic violence protection statutes by adding animal cruelty to the list of conducts that constitute a credible threat to the petitioner's safety or which reflect an ongoing pattern of behavior which causes the petitioner to fear for her or his safety or well being. Courts can grant petitioners exclusive care, custody or control of any animal and order defendants to stay away from any animal.	Granting the petitioner exclusive care, custody, or control of any animal owned, possessed, leased, kept, or held by the petitioner, defendant, or a minor child in either household, and ordering the defendant to stay away from the animal and forbidding the defendant from taking, transferring, encumbering, concealing, committing an act of cruelty or neglect, or disposing of the animal.
